SESSIONAL POSTING

The School of Architecture, Planning and Landscape invites applications for a term certain Sessional Instructor to teach ARCH 201 – Architecture and the Future of Cities. This course will be taught Spring 2024, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 – 10:50am with tutorials running from 11 – 11:50am. Some additional time in the form of office hours for students is expected. This is a course for UCalgary undergraduate students who are preparing to apply to the Minor in Architectural Studies and/or the Master of Architecture program.

Course Description
An introduction to architecture as a creative and technical endeavor that shapes the spaces and places in which we live. An examination of the purposes, intentions, processes, and products of architecture and how they can positively impact climate change, social equity, and quality of life. Students will develop an understanding of the social, cultural, historical, technological, economic, and natural contexts influencing the design of buildings and cities.

Requirements
The successful candidate will have completed at least a master’s degree in architecture or a related discipline and have prior teaching experience at the graduate level.

To apply, please email a letter of application to Professor Alberto de Salvatierra, Associate Dean, Undergraduate at adundergraduate@sapl.ucalgary.ca

In support of your application, please provide the following:
1. Cover letter
2. Current, up-to-date curriculum vitae (CV) (if the faculty does not have a copy of your current CV)
3. Digital design portfolio
4. Three letters of reference (required if you have not taught for the faculty before)
5. Description of your qualifications in support of each course you are interested in teaching (could include evidence of teaching effectiveness.)

Application deadline: March 18, 2024

Sessional positions are offered on a per course basis. Please see the Faculty Association of the University of Calgary (TUCFA) website at http://www.ucalgary.ca/tucfa/ for further information regarding conditions of employment and remuneration.

The University of Calgary believes that a respectful workplace, equal opportunity and building a diverse workforce contribute to the richness of the environment for teaching, learning and research, and provide faculty, staff, students and the public with a university that reflects the society it serves. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. In this connection, at the time of your application, please answer the following questions: Are you a Canadian citizen or a permanent resident of Canada? (Yes/No)
About the University of Calgary
The University of Calgary is a leading Canadian university located in the nation's most enterprising city. We've been ranked amongst the world's top universities, and we've done it by pushing our limits, challenging ourselves to do better, and seeking knowledge – wherever that journey takes us. We're never afraid to question conventional wisdom, and we share what we find openly and eagerly. It's an approach that's led to exponential growth since we were founded in 1966.
To succeed as one of Canada's top universities, where new ideas are created, tested and applied through first-class teaching and research, the University of Calgary needs more of the best minds in our classrooms and labs. We're increasing our scholarly capacity by investing in people who want to change the world, bringing the best and brightest to Calgary to form a global intellectual hub and achieve advances that matter to everyone.
