Urban Acupuncture seeks to redefine a traditionally car-centric area in the city into a high-density, unique, pedestrian-focused area that connects Calgarians to the past and celebrates the present.

PLANNING AND LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS WIN BIG MAYOR'S URBAN DESIGN AWARD

The winning work, Urban Acupuncture, was developed during the Spring 2022 Urban Design studio, under the title BAUKULTUR, guided by Hal Eagletail, Sven Kohlschmidt and Fabian Neuhaus, and funded by the Richard K. Parker Foundation. Two other SAPL submissions – Anastomose and Euphoria – received honourable mentions.

Winner - URBAN ACUPUNCTURE
Honourable Mention - ANASTOMOSE
Honourable Mention - EUPHORIA
